

Tech Insurance by Stork Insurance

You aren't a cookie cutter company. Why do you have a cookie cutter policy?

In today's technology marketplace, change happens rapidly, and it happens on more of a global scale than ever before. To protect your company, you need insurance that is customized especially for technology companies like your own. The insurance policies that we offer respond globally, and to claims brought electronically – including the internet – something most standard policies will not.

Coverages available to Technology Companies:

- Technology Errors & Omissions
- Cyber Liability
- General Liability (for tech companies)
- Intellectual Property
- Excess Liability
- Property / Marine
- Automobile
- Workers Compensation
- Employment Practice Liability
- Directors & Officers Liability
- Workplace Violence
